Course content approved by the ADRE must be directly related to professional real estate practice and adhere to the specific guidelines as stated in the current A.R.S §32-2135 and A.A.C. R4-28-402, as well as serve to protect the public interest by providing relevant education to real estate licensees professional practice of real estate.

A.A.C. R4-28-101 "Distance learning course" means a course of instruction outside a traditional classroom situation consisting of computer-based interactive instructional material, requiring completion in the credit hours specified. A course that requires a student to read text, listen to audio tapes, or view video material without student participation, feedback, and remedial instruction is not a distance learning course. Instruction/delivery methods for distance learning courses may be presented by computer, internet, host/remote location. The host/remote location instruction delivery method must be classes that are held in classrooms with synchronized platforms, bi-directional audio and video communications between the host and remote classrooms, administered by a live instructor from the host classroom, and monitored by an onsite monitor in the classroom at each remote classroom location.

The following are examples of courses deemed as unacceptable topics for approval for continuing education credit: Prospecting for Leads/Listings/Buyers; Social Media; Computer and/or Internet; Negotiation Techniques; Body Language Interpretation; Managing Personal Budget; Home Decoration; Landscaping; Identity Theft Protection; Stress Management; Personal Marketing; Interpersonal Communication; Positive Thinking; Time Management; Safety.
